SAINT MICHAEL'S

1 9 3 4
The Sisters of Saint Martha take up residency in the Founder's Hall Annex. They perform domestic duties at Saint Michael's. Rev. Leon E. Gosselin, SSE, a graduate of the Class of 1923, becomes the Sixth president. Football is dropped as an athletic offering. It will return in the early 1947 for a brief and successful period until 1953, then exist as a club sport from 1964-1978.

1 9 6 3
The Sisters of Saint Martha leave Saint Michael's after serving for thirty years. Vice President Lyndon Johnson arrives at Saint Michael's and speaks to a crowd of 1,000.

1 9 0 4
Construction begins in May and continues throughout the summer at a cost of $19,046.18. The building accommodates 50 boarders and also contains instructional space. With 35 initial students ranging in ages from eleven to twenty-three, ten instructors and tuition of $143, Saint Michael's College commences operation on September 14th, 1904.

1 9 4 7
Saint Michael's Playhouse opens, bringing professional summer theatre to Vermont and giving students the chance to work behind the scenes. SMC students still intern with the Playhouse each summer.

1 9 6 7
The circular Durick Library is built and named after Jeremiah K. Durick, a longtime English professor. The Saint Michael's College Board of Trustees is reorganized to include laymen. The board can have no more than 24 members and at least 1/2 + 2 need to be Edmundites. Eight laymen are initially given seats on the board.

1 9 1 1
Julian R. Miller, Saint Michael's first African-American student (and first African-American varsity athlete) graduates.

1 9 5 4
Students from around the world begin learning English in a new program, today called the School of International Studies. SIS graduates to date: 15,000. Senator John F. Kennedy visits Saint Michael's and addresses a crowd of 5,000 at a Holy Namers convention.

1 9 0 7
The first graduation ceremony is held with four commercial graduates. The second half of Founder's Hall is completed and a bell tower is placed atop. The first Saint Michael's football team plays in an unofficial "Green Mountain Conference" league, challenging such teams as Providence and Sienna.

1 9 5 8
The "Iron Knights" basketball team fights to second place in the NCAA college championships, putting Saint Michael's on the athletic map. Reverend Gerald Dupont, SSE, is appointed Saint Michael's 10th president. The Language Lab is established by professor Ernest Boulay to assist International Students with learning English.

1 9 5 1
Under the control of Coach George "Doc" Jacobs, the Saint Michael's football team goes unbeaten and untied, clinching the state championship and the New England college division championship.

1 9 6 9
An SMC athlete dies in midst of an athletic event, prompting members of the College community to form the Saint Michael's College Fire and Rescue Squads. The squads respond to an average of 2,000 emergency calls annually. Bernard Boutin becomes Saint Michael's 11th president and first lay leader.

Graduation is only a concept. Life is my college.
In real life I graduate everyday. Graduation is a

To the Class of 2005,

I present you the 2005 Hilltop. A special thanks is deserving to the Hilltop staff, who dedicated many hours creating this yearbook. I also would like to personally thank Jennie Cernosia and Matthew Clark for all their support and assistance in completing this yearbook.

I hope this yearbook will allow you to recall many fond memories of your years at Saint Michael's College.

The Graduating Class of 2005 Dedicates the 2005 Hilltop to...

Dr. Marta Umanzor

We lay foundations that will need further development.

We provide yeast that produces far beyond our capabilities.

We cannot do everything, and there is a sense of liberation in realizing that. This enables us to do something, and to do it very well. It may be incomplete, but it is a beginning, a step along the way, an opportunity for the Lord's grace to enter and do the rest.

We may never see the end results, but that is the difference between the master builder and the worker.

We are workers, not master builders; ministers, not messiahs.

We are prophets of a future not our own.

~Archbishop Oscar Romero

Good afternoon faculty, staff, administration and the graduating class of 2005.

It is a great honor to stand before you and award the dedication of the 2005 Hilltop.

It is my pleasure on behalf of the graduating class of 2005 to present the yearbook dedication to Dr. Marta Umanzor.

Marta was forced into exile from her beloved El Salvador by a violent regime in the late 70's.

Through her dedication teaching, faith in God and her experiences of war in her native country, Marta exemplifies what it means to express Catholic Social Teaching in the Modern World.

Marta's enthusiasm to teach and involve as many students as possible coupled with her commitment to the service of others, especially the poor, and her determination to help the Hispanic community through peace and justice education bear witness to her many good deeds. Her mentor and friend, Archbishop Oscar Romero, the modern-day Saint of her country, and the patron of the poor of Latin America would be proud of the work she has continued.

Marta has gone above and beyond her call of duty here at Saint Michael's and now she is a mentor to others.

As Father Marcel eloquently put it...

Es un honor que bien merece...

It's an honor she well deserves.

Lecturer of Education

10 years of service

"Schools were created to meet the needs of students. They were not created to employ teachers, principals, counselors, nurses, secretaries, cafeteria people, custodians, assistants, superintendents, student teachers, or anyone else. We exist to serve the needs of all students. That means the bright, the impaired, the dull, the loud, the quiet, the interested, the disinterested, the clean and the dirty. Our primary responsibility is to hold the well being of students as the fundamental value in everything we do.

NO EXCEPTIONS. NO EXCUSES."

This quote from Rick Marcotte himself captures his essence. Rick Marcotte spent his 40 plus years in educational settings dedicated to each student, whether an elementary, middle school, high school or college student. He could see each student's potential, and make them believe in that potential too.

Rick possessed the rare combination of wisdom and humility. He was a Renaissance man; his interests ranged from Broadway shows to sports. Rick always stressed to student teachers that they needed to have a rich life outside of the classroom to draw upon when in the classroom.

Rick Marcotte touched so many people because of his unique ability to make every single individual who came in contact with him believe that he/she had a "special" relationship with him. It didn't matter if you were a student, secretary, custodian, or teacher; Rick was able to see the good in each person, communicate his respect and treat everyone with positive regard. He was an extraordinary educator whose legacy lives on through the lives and actions of all the people he touched. Comments from his students speak to Professor Marcotte's enduring impact.

"How can I ever thank you enough? Your inspiring words, passion for teaching, and unconditional positive regard have made an enormous impact on my life."

"My favorite class! Students who are not in this major should take it! .....St Mike's should never let him retire....He inspires, encourages, practices what he preaches and is so much more than a teacher; he is a friend."

"Prof. Marcotte Rules! Best, coolest teacher I've had here!"

"When I got news of his death, at first I was shocked.... I couldn't believe it. He was too good to die.... But when I found it in myself to accept the fact that I would never see or speak to him again, I was angry. I was angry that I didn't get to tell him everything that I had been meaning to say. ...Most of all, I was angry because he will never know how much he meant to me, and I will never be able to look at him and say, 'Thank you.'"

We were so fortunate to have Rick Marcotte with us for the past ten years. We miss his presence every day.

Barry J. Krikstone

Professor of Psychology
32 years of service

When I think about Barry I like to think about a prism – you know those things that let light shine through but you never quite get to see all of the rays at the same time – Barry was like that. There were so many sides to him and many people never saw all of the sides.

For example – over ten years ago when our friend Joanne Rathgeb was struggling in her fight against cancer she told Barry and I that she was worried about what would happen to Don after she died. She asked us to “take care of Don” and so for the last ten years, ever since Joanne’s death, every three or four months, four of us, Tony Julianelle, Barry and I have gone to dinner with Don – keeping our promise made to Joanne to “take care of Don.” Barry always got to pick out the restaurant because he knew the best places to eat.

- Barry and I worked the table at the women’s basketball games for more than twelve years – both JV and varsity. Neither of us really liked basketball but that made us great table help because we could be objective and just do our jobs and not get excited about a bad call. Barry would work the scoreboard and I would work the clock – either Will Marquess or Jeff Adams would work the shot clock. Barry would come running over from his office where he had been correcting papers or talking with a student and the official would have already asked “where is that guy?” – sometimes Barry would forget his glasses and we thought about making HIM the referee.....
- Barry also was very involved with the Dismas House, having served on their Board – he wanted college students to help out with people who had been in prison and who were transitioning back into society – he always felt it was important for people to understand just how important forgiveness was.
- Barry liked classical music and history and those of us who knew him well over the last couple of years know just how much he liked the game of solitaire.
- With all of the different facets of Barry’s life and the light that shone through that prism there were three rays that always shone through – that everyone saw. First of all there was his family. I realized this past week that I had never met David or Jody –that amazes me because I knew all about you – Barry talked about how you were, where you were and what you were doing – he was so proud of each of you – I felt like I already knew you. And then there is his mom – how he loved your energy – he was always talking about you and he was truly amazed at how much energy you had and he loved you dearly. And Ellen – anyone who knows Ellen knows that she has “antics” – she was always trying something different – Barry didn’t always understand all of that “why is she doing that?” but he always, always loved you Ellen.
- A second ray that was always there was his faith – how he loved you Rabbi Wall – he saw you as his father. He wanted those of us at this Catholic college to understand and value the difference of religion and his faith was always so important to him.
- And finally, the ray that always came through was his teaching. He impacted so many people with his teaching. Mary LeClair has her doctorate in Clinical Psychology and is in private practice in Buffalo – Barry inspired her. Craig Farnum is a guidance counselor with his master’s degree and works at a high school in Reno, Nevada – Barry inspired him. He was his work study and worked catering with Barry. I have heard from so many people this past week, current and former students who told me how Barry impacted their lives ---- something that many people did NOT know about Barry is how he would often become a role model, a mentor for many of our young men on campus -young men who needed a role model, a mentor. He was a role model because these young men needed a good man as a role model and Barry Krikstone WAS a good man.

Thank you.

Office of the President

May 19, 2005

To the Class of 2005:

It is with great pleasure and pride that I congratulate the members of the Class of 2005—the first graduating class of Saint Michael's second century. Your many achievements have been made possible by your hard work, commitment to learning, supportive relationships with each other and a genuine desire to succeed.

I also wish to express my deep gratitude to the faculty and staff of Saint Michael's for their enduring dedication to the College and the Class of 2005. Their involvement has been integral to the process of your lifelong education; in turn, staff and faculty have benefited from your presence during the past four years. This volume of the Hilltop will always be a positive reminder of and tribute to our shared experiences and the contributions of those who have departed from the Saint Michael's College campus.

It is my earnest hope that your years here at Saint Michael's will continue to enrich your lives far into the future. You have my best wishes for success in all your endeavors.

Congratulations!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink that reads "Marc A. Vanderheyden".

SAINT MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

1904 Centennial 2004

Office of the President

It now seems like a hundred years ago that President vanderHeyden charged me with chairing the centenary anniversary of Saint Michael's College. Preliminary discussions began in 2000 and the Centennial Committee was confirmed in spring of 2001; from there we began our planning for the entire 18-month long celebration which lasted from January 2004 through June 2005.

I believe we accomplished our primary goal with these celebrations, which was to bring out the incredibly rich heritage and history of Saint Michael's. In doing so we have discovered some wonderful connections that will carry the College into its second century. President vanderHeyden highlighted these connections in his address at the Centennial Opening Convocation in January 2004:

When we trace our beginning to Saint Edmund, we delve into the intellectual and cultural tradition of medieval Christendom. We connect with the historic universities of Paris and Oxford and the great learning of Western civilization. Through the story of the Society of Saint Edmund, we are linked with Pontigny and the wonderful mystery of monastic traditions, such as the Cistercians. We also find our impetus in French history – the Revolution and re-evangelization of France. These threads show our French and English roots, and we should never forget that our founding fathers created an institution that reflected both in its learning and aspirations.

Throughout the eighteen months we showcased our academic departments. Our faculty are second to none and we learned so much about each department's rich history and vibrant present-day activities. In recognition of this excellence, our faculty were granted a Phi Beta Kappa Chapter which was inaugurated during this celebratory season in spring of 2004. The Fireside Chat Series, one of the most popular Centennial series, highlighted faculty legends – some who are no longer with us, some who are. The Catholic Intellectual Heritage Lecture Series brought a renowned slate of scholars to the College to examine a number of intellectual issues from a distinctly Catholic perspective.

The focus of our entire celebrations, of course, were the Feast of Saint Michael, the Centennial Convocation and the Feast of Saint Edmund, all of which took place during six weeks of celebrations in September, October and November 2004. Bishop Kenneth Angell was the main

Marilyn Cormier

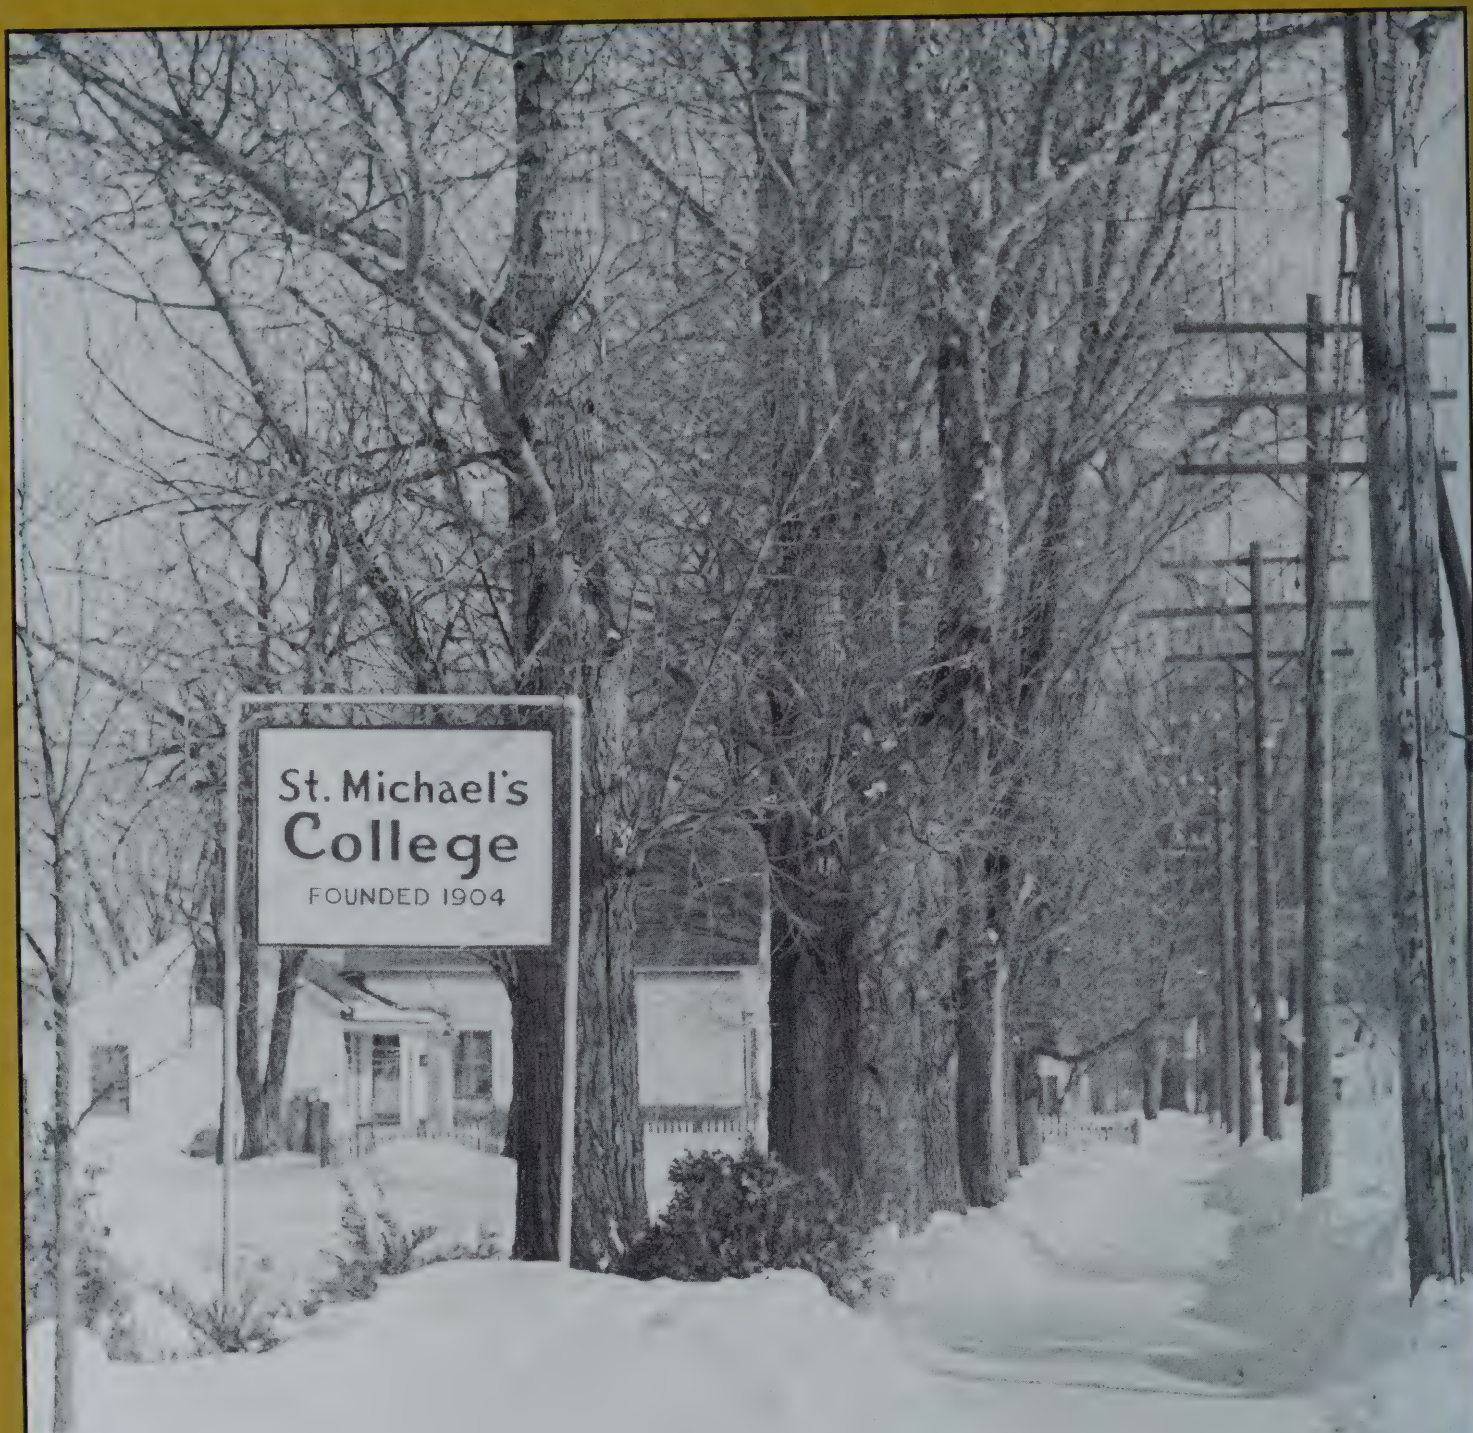

We have celebrated so much more, including academic convocations, two commencements, local community events, musical and theatrical performances, and unforgettable poetry and music written for this anniversary. The past eighteen months will long be remembered. As I reflect on these celebrations something personal and important to me has been the interaction I've had with our student Centennial Ambassadors and our student leaders. They are a true joy to work with, and I am so proud of them all. I am grateful to the Centennial Committee and all who worked so hard and put in countless hours to make these celebrations such a success.

It has been my honor and my privilege to serve as chair of the Centennial celebrations. I thank President and Mrs. vanderHeyden for the opportunity and for their trust in me. I wish the College the best of everything into its second century. We have indeed been blessed.

and like that I crashed landed in college confused and amused at being so old and grown and away from home with its comforts of childhood memory and meaning, but here I was leaning in the open door of Joyce dorm looking out upon a late August 2001 day of new green trees and smiling possibilities upon these grounds and in the sounds of bustling freshmen behind me constructing new homes of their own, with all these personalities from different localities unpacking their clothes knit from the threads of their past and meeting and greeting one another with a subtle knowledge that some of these faces would not just be another face but a new brother, sister, or lover - oh the faces we've seen of each other I think to myself, standing again in the doorway of Joyce last week in the sunshine of May 2005 my god four years flown, the faces; an 18 year old girl's sweet acceptance of sun as she lays out in the grass by the library, her eyes glancing up softly toward the boy from her English class walking by- the hand in the hair, wild eyed downward stare of my friend in the library, his gaze dancing across the page of Emerson the sage and the quiver of subtle smiles from the corners of his mouth, the beam of his face when he looks up at me, excitedly, we become our philosophy- or the hunched shoulder fellow in the dorm stair well, cell phone to his ear, voice shaky, face distraught down, saddened eyes, the shine of a few tears on the tile, I think he's breaking up with his girl from home- there's the face of the girl from abroad, much further from home than the rest of us, a little lonely in the lunch line, with soft brown eyes of determined grace- the face of the athlete, sweat streaked and strong, at practice, late evening, remembering for a moment playing this same game as a child in the yard with his giant dad- the feeling of my own face, in class, my brow furrowed and eyes glaring at the floor, the face of the feeling you get when three hundred things you've learned in class conflate and converge upon your mind and the desks and the walls fall away and you realize how connected and enormous and painfully complex and gorgeous this world really is...and now, I stand here today, all these faces and the traces they drawn on my college canvas are out all here before me, as I'm here before, and for, you, and of the times we've shared I'll always remember last fall when -come with me now- I dove into a party of parties at our place, the house soaked with friends, friends of friends and buddies and honey babies and more behind them, as the characters and caricatures of every sort that I've found myself with so many times before and all these souls coming out of the duct work from houses, townhouses, rooms, and bars, each with their own stories, triumphs, pasts, and scars the bad of which were checked at the crowded door and brought to light no more - all at my home where I could freely wander and wonder with and at each and every one of these familiar faces and bodies that poured out smiles and exuded youth and glory and who wore and were gleaming mirrors reflecting the wild instant gratification in the eyes of the person dancing in front of them, laying and swaying to the tones and rhythms of the deafening collective din of us all saying yes yes yes! to this entire Dionysian ball, seeking and speaking within the twirl swirl of conversations that lose their shape and bleed into one another and form palpable pools of persuasive passion that perform perfect pieces of the hit show called Tonight, with a room and a house and a yard and a campus and a country and a world of people living for these moments unbounded in unmitigated and unadulterated celebration that all I have to do to join is swig heartily from my green bottle of Roget champagne and listen and dance and watch as these life drunken minds trounce and bounce and pounce with every ounce and wavelength of music and energy and cheers that slur with a muddy clean intensity that continuously renews itself with every bellowing chant that I stood there, and in the Joyce doorway, and upon this podium today, and have watched with high height delight and a pleasure squint sight that's made each college moment float and smile and has made me glad to stick around a while

ORGANIZATIONS

While SMC students have used their guitars to strum, jam and write music for decades, 2002 was the first year that such activities were sponsored by the school through a club. The mission of the St. Mike's Guitar Club is to promote guitar playing and instruction at Saint Michael's College. The weekly meetings bring together guitarists who might not have met otherwise. They help beginners, and guitarists of all abilities, to improve on their skills and enjoy a relaxed, musical atmosphere once a week on campus. The club also sponsors various events around campus including performances, clinics, and chances for students to perform. It was started as a longtime idea by faculty member/experienced guitarist Rick Leggett with the help of Calen Perkins, an SMC student.

The SMC Computer Club encompasses a wide range of activities and caters to many interests. Computers and technology in general offer many different areas of specialization. The Computer Club tries to support the technology interests of students, whether they are interested in programming contests or LAN gaming parties. Computing isn't just about microchips and lines of code, there is an element of fun as well! The club sponsors activities such as lectures and technology themed movie nights. Lectures help inject different perspectives from off campus speakers. Movie nights are just one of many informal events for students to discuss technology related topics. As for LAN parties, we have traveled to a few throughout Vermont and even hosted one here at St. Mikes! If there is an interest in computing or technology in general, the SMC computer club tries to help foster those interests!

The Freeride Club aims to enable skiers and riders to get to the mountain more often through organizing and subsidizing trips all over New England. While the main focus of the club is competing in events such as slopestyles, pipe jams, rail jams, and skier/boarder crosses, it also acknowledges that all good riders start somewhere in that it helps to get people of all skill levels involved in snow sports so that they can one day compete as well. Freeride Club members can be seen frequenting the park, the backcountry, or hitting rails on campus and downtown.

SGAC (Student Global AIDS Campaign)

The Student Global AIDS Campaign (SGAC) is a national organization that seeks to stop the global AIDS pandemic through advocacy and education. The Saint Michael's chapter has been influential in the adoption of progressive AIDS policies by seven 2004 presidential candidates. SGAC also works with Senator Patrick Leahy to increase funding to the Global Fund for AIDS, TB and Malaria. SGAC meets bi-weekly to discuss strategies to fight HIV/AIDS in our community and world wide.

Founders Society
A Saint Michael's student ambassador organization. Ambassadors work with the Admission and Alumni Relations staff to foster strong relationships with prospective students and alumni through a variety of campus and off-campus activities.

The Center for Multicultural Student Affairs (MSA) at Saint Michael's College is a component of the Office of Student Life. Our mission is to create an inclusive, caring, accepting, and dynamic community of learners.

The center serves as a resource for students, faculty, staff, and Student Life in such areas as cross-cultural communication, leadership training and development, cultural awareness, multicultural understanding, student development and identity development issues.

The center organizes educational and recreational programs for the campus community. The main purpose of the center is to provide services, programs, support and advice to anyone in the campus community who is eager to increase his/her understanding of the diversity that is an inherent part of 21st century living.

The center enjoys a very vibrant environment. At any time, you will find a diverse group of students speaking various languages, working on projects, planning activities, laughing, discussing current socio-political issues, relaxing after a tough day of classes, reading, doing research, or having a confidential conversation with the director.

JB

This fall I had the great opportunity to play the lead roll in the department's production of JB. I would like to thank the people who believed I could and should do the part despite a potentially disastrous personal conflict that had arisen for me early in the process. Without the support of my friends and family I may have run away from this opportunity and honor. Thanks to the directors. Thanks to the cast.

The cast of JB was by far the most talented group of actors and actresses I have worked with, making up a diverse and supportive ensemble that I learned from every rehearsal. In addition to her high enthusiasm and maturity on the stage, Jo Pressimone's religious faith was the roll model for the faith that I tried to show in Job. She was a valuable resource in realizing just what it means to believe. I couldn't have personally experienced that without her.

Fire and Rescue staffs and runs a full-service rescue squad and fire department. Fire operates as a battalion of the Colchester Fire Department, while Rescue covers four area towns. Fire and Rescue answers over 1,300 emergency calls a year. Entry level training is offered in the fall and spring semesters for both units. No experience is necessary, just a willingness to learn and get involved.

Edmundite Campus Ministry

The purpose of the Office of Edmundite Campus Ministry at Saint Michael's College is the evangelization of the College community by means of a broad based pastoral, educational, and spiritual ministry. To this end, the Campus Ministry staff seeks to interact with and challenge every member, group and department of the College community in their individual and corporate search for the truth. In its pursuit of furthering the reign of God, the ministry draws a strength and direction from the Gospel, from the rich traditions of the Roman Catholic Church, and from the heritage of the Society of Saint Edmund in order to help each member of the College community to live and function as an intelligent believer.

"I hope you never lose your sense of wonder
You get your fill to eat but always keep that hunger

May you never take one single breath for granted
God forbid love ever leave you empty-handed
I hope you still feel small when you stand beside the ocean

Whenever one door closes I hope one more opens
Promise me that you'll give faith a fighting chance
And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance
I hope you dance... .. I hope you dance"

YOU ARE SPECIAL!

You have accomplished much and you should be proud of yourself. You have become a caring, loving, compassionate, faith-filled man. You have the ability to reach for the stars!

We are very proud that you are our son. We will always be there for you.

We love you with a love beyond words.

You are truly special!!!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Lisa,

In all of my dreams I never imagined that I would be so lucky to have such a wonderful daughter. You worked hard through the years to accomplish what you have done with yourself and never once did you take anything in life, no matter how small, for granted. You were always loving and mature enough to never judge anyone or anything. It is your appreciation of life, and faith in God that has taken you this far. Believe in and trust the winner within you and hold on to your courage. Always have dreams and ambitions to keep your mind open to endless opportunities.

May God and your angels bless and protect you always.
I hope you dance!!!
With pride and
love,
Mom

Kristen O'Connell

I am...a girl with an open mind
I wonder...how much success I will have in life
I hear...voices inside me telling me what choices I shall make
I want...everyone to get along and not take everything for granted
I am...a girl with an open mind
That was the beginning of a beautiful poem that you wrote back when you were 13 years old and thinking about the future. Here is our poem to you.
You are...a beautiful young woman
You can...succeed in everything you do
You will...brighten anyone's day with your gorgeous smile
You have...grown to be such a caring, loving individual
We are...so VERY PROUD of you.

Congratulations sweet pea...you did it.
With all our love,
Mom, Bill, Bee, Parker, Matt, Molly and Charlie

Maura Cunningham

The challenge of Maura is to chase life
the way she does - loving the race, respecting your opponent and laughing
all the way to the finish line.

GRETCHEN KLENE

Gretchen-

You're always so full of fun, you make life interesting for everyone around you. You are the family's social planner and communication hub. You're never without a sparkle in your eyes and a mischievous thought behind them. We're all very proud of what you've accomplished and we know you'll be the kind of teacher that kids remember as one of their favorites.

We love you very much.

Christopher Rovero CONGRATULATIONS-WE ARE SO PROUD OF YOU.

Chris,

Long before your first day of school until your last you have always had an insatiable thirst for knowledge. We know you will continue to expand your horizons as you begin the next step in your life. Be proud of accomplishments. You have always worked hard and deserve to celebrate the fruits of your labor. Remember, the key to a happy life is balance, take time to play as well as work. We are proud to say we are the parents of such an incredible young man. The world is definitely a better place because of you.

We love you.
Mom & Dad

*May God give you...
For every storm, a rainbow,
For every tear, a smile,
For every care, a promise,
And a blessing in each trial.
For every problem life sends,
A faithful friend to share,
For every sigh, a sweet song,
And an answer for each prayer.*

CHRIS ZIMMERMAN

Life is full of changes, but one thing that is constant with you, is your sense of humor and love of life!

Don't ever lose it! We are so proud of you! Congratulations!
